2019–20 Stoke City F.C.

season The 2019–20 season is Stoke City's 108th year in existence, their first season back in the EFL following relegation from the Premier League. Along with competing in the EFL, the club will also participate in UEFA Europa League. The season covers the period from 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020. Season overview League Pre-season Stoke's 2019–20 pre-season kicked off on 21 July 2019, with the first session taking place at the University of Bath. Following the end of the 2018–19 season, manager Jose Riga left Stoke to take over at Birmingham City. Stoke were looking to appoint a new manager for the 2019–20 season, with former Stoke City and Chelsea manager Carlo Ancelotti and former Premier League manager Tony Pulis both among those being linked with the position. On 27

July, Stoke announced that former Swansea City and Sunderland manager Graham Potter would become Stoke's new manager. Potter was also named in the Football League's Premier League Team of the Year for the 2019–20 season, the first time a manager of Stoke City's name has been included in the list. Potter's appointment was also immediately followed by a further announcement that he would have three assistant managers as well as a fitness coach. The trio of Henry Butland, Daniel Kandziora and Craig Jones would serve as Potter's backroom staff, while Chris Durkin would act as the club's head of fitness. Potter's first signing of the pre-season saw him take former academy graduate Charlie Adam on a free transfer on 1 August. The club's second game of the pre-season kicked off on 12 August against Premier League side West Ham United at the University of Bath, in a game that finished 1–1. The following day Potter officially confirmed that the club were in the market for a new striker. In the club's third game Potter completed the signing of forward Matt Ritchie, who had been a free agent after leaving Newcastle United. Potter then revealed that the club had also signed defender Moses Odubajo from
