©AP The four teams that were at Patriots camp in week six of the preseason are no longer in the Patriots' cafeteria, according to a source. It's a good bet the Patriots won't have those same four teams in the cafeteria any time soon, since Jim Mora and many of those young guys from those four teams have had their stints with the Patriots. And the roles others will play in the preseason aren't set in stone. But four teams that were at that time in the cafeteria are no longer there, and that means the opening of the regular season is only a little further off. next week and haven't gotten back to you other than to say that I appreciate your interest. Let us know if you have any questions. Kevin From: John Ambler, Wilson, Herron & Spruck, P.C.
