What's New In?

WIFI Studio is a powerful utility to monitor the WIFI network traffic. Based on NETBIOS, it can monitor the internet activity and the network traffic of the connected computers and wireless devices. There are five modes to choose from: Log a list of activities and connection quality when an unauthorized device connects to your network. Filter the list of activities, based on IPs. Create a log for an active connection to a specified device. Create a log for all connections. Log the number of current connections. With WIFI Studio, you can control and specify the destination computer/device, the user name and password. Each connection is automatically logged with a unique name and connection quality is categorized into four levels: Not Logged, Low, Medium and High. Moreover, you can filter the connection list on network name, IP address, MAC address, source IP, source MAC and destination IP. All the connection information are presented in the list format. benchmarking. It is the best tool for wireless network activity monitor and provides the information about all the devices connected to a local area network. You can monitor network traffic, bandwidth, and throughput of the connected clients. It will help you to solve various troubleshooting problems. Testimony: I am a network professional and as a system administrator, I perform many day to day network configuration and security procedures. I have been using Splice for a while and I really appreciate the way it handles events and runs in the background. Whenever an event occurs, Splice generates and displays a concise output on the monitor. In most cases, the network activity log provides the most accurate information regarding a suspected network problem. It is easy to share Splice activity log across a network with a small text file attached. I highly recommend Splice to any student or professional.
