I would like to share some of my recipes with you: New York-style bagels, coffee cake, cinnamon rolls, lemon meringue pie, cookies, brownies and more. I am very interested in the art of baking and in the development of an everyday meal which may become part of your everyday food experience. I think that food is extremely important and that a big part of our culture comes from it. Learn MoreQ: how to set async to false in F# I am trying to create a generic collection that can be used to return either plain text or html using tags and expressions and it is not working as desired. I get an error about how async is not allowed Type mismatch. Expecting a value {expression} but given a {box} [] here is the code that errors on the last line let expression (x:string) = async { let! x' = TextReader.readFile x $x' } [] let main
