Soot - The Java Constraint Based Development Environment Soot - The Java Constraint Based Development Environment Overview Soot is a tool for Constraint Based Programming (aka. Zed And Fusel). Its main feature is to allow the user to specify exactly what code he wants his program to produce. Soot then tries to find ways to implement this specification using a powerful algorithmic tool. It can derive optimality guarantees. In order to specify the algorithm to use, Soot provides a tool called a "solver". The tool is quite simple to use and allows the user to define simple predicates that shall be attached to the variables of the program. The solver then finds all assignments that satisfy these constraints. A feasible assignment is
