■ Product Specification (PlayStation 4) ■ Product Specification (PlayStation Vita) After what was a topsy turvy season for both the San Diego State Aztecs and their rivals the Boise State Broncos, the Aztecs sit a loss to the Broncos still unbeaten. However, for the top ranked Broncos, they sit at 1-2 in conference play. Meanwhile, the Aztecs do not have a conference game scheduled this season. In another big story from the Mountain West Conference, this week also saw two former Denver Bronco starters suspended for remainder of the season. Linebacker Joe Dineen was suspended four games for violating the school's drug policy. Wide receiver T.Y. Hilton (1,101 yards in 2012) was suspended indefinitely for conduct detrimental to the team. Based on these suspensions, it is likely both of these teams will be unable to meet up again this season, likely once again in Boise as they were last season when the Broncos ended up winning the final game of the season. For that reason, some people were expressing disappointment that the SDSU Aztecs will not be in a bowl game this season and will miss out on a second straight Mountain West
