My application basically consists of 2 pages : index.html and product.html. It is now built using Angular1 with templates and by using a bootstrapper package as described here : I am looking for a viable solution for my app, maybe like : angular2-bootstrap-sample / github : But I am lost when it comes to the assets that are in the code sample, I tried to use their code to add into my index.html but I got errors and the part I am struggling with now is to integrate all the assets into my index.html. Can anyone please provide me with some tips and how-to-do on building a whole angular 2 app with Angular-2-Bootstrap? A: I found two ways to solve this. Approach 1 Create a new angular2 project using angular-cli and select the options you require. Add the angular2-bootstrap as a dependency in package.json file and run "npm install" Follow the angular2-bootstrap docs and do the c6a93da74d
