Deezer Music Player Premium v6.1.20.58 Mod.Congress and the Obama administration reached agreement Wednesday on legislation that will overhaul the bankruptcy laws. The deal was announced by House Republican Leader John Boehner and Senate Democratic Leader Harry Reid, putting lawmakers on course to send the bill to President Obama for his signature. The legislation is one of the administration's top priorities, and would put millions of homeowners back into ownership of their homes. "Hard-working middle-class Americans who are facing the threat of foreclosure today will be protected from unfair, harmful and illegal practices in the future," Boehner said. "And, the bill also makes responsible lenders and servicers more accountable, and promotes more responsible and more responsible lending practices across the country." The president said he is "pleased the United States House of Representatives and the United States Senate have reached agreement on a bipartisan, bicameral
